As organizations become accountable for population health, their leaders must rethink how health data is collected and shared.

To read the full study, visit go.iu.edu/1PGL.